

Goodbye and welcome!

With the last working days of the year 2017 at Christmas we have satisfied a desire for us and hopefully also for all visitors and users of the internet portal for the textile industry TEXTINATION:

Textination says goodbye to its old layout and will welcome 2018 with a fresh new look.

EVERYTHING STAYS DIFFERENT:

As usual, you will find our business information in the form of company overviews, economic data, tenders and market analysis. The job market will continue to help finding new challenges or people who face challenges.

The textile knowledge database TextileTechnology is still at your disposal, just like the new DownCheck database with all the details about down and feathers. And of course, we will keep you posted about dates and events.

WHAT'S NEW?

We have cleaned up: the navigation has been revised and streamlined; topic priorities have been newly set. In addition, we have followed the wishes of many companies and have significantly expanded and structured the news area. In future, you will find information or news from the industry that interests you with one click. An extensive archive and an indexing will help at finding.

We offer a platform that optimally supports you in the presentation of your products, developments and innovations – following the motto: we proudly present ...

Show what sets you apart from others.

We wish you, your colleagues and employees a wonderful Christmas and a good start to a hopefully happy, healthy and prosperous NEW YEAR 2018.

Stay curious!

Your Textination-Team.
